Psalm 19

February 2, 2020

For Starters:

There's a phrase, "A picture is worth a thousand words." What is it that has spoken to you without words?

What comes to mind when you think of the word, "glory"?

Guidelines: The following is meant to provide an approach for further interaction with the respective sermon text and surrounding passage. Feel free to forward to your small group members ahead of the respective Sunday. Group members may also find this write up in print on that Sunday.

First, as you can, read aloud the selected passage in your group. If you have time, read it aloud a second time - from a different Bible translation. If you have time, read it aloud a third time - from an even different Bible translation.

Before you begin your discussion, pray and ask God to speak to your group. Notice, what may God be highlighting for your discussion and learning?

Now that you have read the text together and prayed, what points and questions arise from your group? Spend plenty of time in your group to address these points and questions. Explore and see how God may give guidance in the discussion. The following are further questions you may use to guide your interaction with the text.

1. What relationship do you see from this passage between the natural world and God?
2. How have you seen the glory of God in the world?
3. How is the Law of God talked about in this passage?
4. When you think about the law, what usually springs to your mind?
5. In what way do you relate to this passage?
6. What part of this passage do you struggle with?
7. What makes you feel the way the Psalmist felt about the Law of God?
8. As you go about your week, look for the glory of God around you.

May this be our prayer this week. "Let the words of my mouth and the meditation of my heart be acceptable to you, O Lord, my rock and my redeemer."
